Cava Torre Galatea Brut Rosado

When Salvador Dalí received guests at his house in Port Lligat, he always offered them a glass of Perelada cava. For many years, the Perelada Castle was witness to the close friendship which united the brilliant Salvador Dalí and Don Miguel Mateu, founder of our bodega. Perelada, in cooperation with the Gala-Salvador Dalí Foundation, has decided to create a red wine to pay tribute to this relationship: the Torre Galatea Cabernet Sauvignon.

Salvador Dalí and Miguel Mateu corresponded prolifically for years. Thanks to many of these letters, now kept in the castle library, we have been able to use authentic Dalinian typography on the Torre Galatea Cabernet Sauvignon label.

Designation of Origin: Cava.

Varietals: Garnatxa Negra (50%), Pinot Noir (25%), Trepat (25%).

Winemaking:

Base wine: Elaborated with selected grapes from D.O. Cava vineyards.

Elaboration: Controlled fermentation of the first must.

Ageing: About twelve months in the bottle before disgorging.

Type of bottle: Cava, 75 cl.

Tasting note:

Pale cherry red. Limpid and bright. Generous detachment of fine bubbles with crown formation. Clean aroma, fruity and with a slight ageing tone. Complex and fruity taste, smooth, with a good balance in the mouth.

Salvador Dalí and Castillo Peralada

Salvador Dalí and Miguel Mateu corresponded prolifically for years. Thanks to many of these letters, now kept in the castle library, we have been able to use authentic Dalinian typography on the Torre Galatea label.

The Galatea Tower which gives its name to this wine is one of the most iconic images of the Dalinian universe. Decorated by Dalí himself with a large number of loaves of bread and crowned with a row of eggs, both recurring elements in his art work, it was in this tower that the painter spent his last days.

Salvador Dalí often visited Castillo Peralada. There, he painted and made several speeches about oenology.
