WINEMAKING

The best microplots of Syrah and Grenache on the Garbet estate are selected, where the grapes are harvested manually in two visits to the vineyard and transported in 20 kg boxes to ensure maximum quality. In the winery, the grapes go on to a manual selection table to ensure that only the perfect fruits continue to the winemaking process. Fermentation then takes place in 600-litre microvinification tanks, before the wine is aged for twelve months in new 300-litre French oak barrels.

2021 VINTAGE

The 2021 vintage on the Garbet Estate was marked by a dry spring, with scarce rainfall, but the tenacious, resilient vines remained strong and did not suffer. Despite this lack of rainfall, the vines received just the right amount of water for the grapes to reach ideal ripening point in impeccably healthy condition, resulting in an excellent harvest. Although production was 30 % lower than in 2020, the quality of the grapes was extraordinary, resulting in balanced, highly expressive wines.
